

Professor
Craig Vincent-Lambert

Biography

Professor Craig Vincent-Lambert began his career in 1989 as a South African Fire Fighter / EMT.

He went on to qualify as a Medical Rescue Specialist and Advanced Life Support Paramedic. Further study led to completion of the Bachelor Degree in Emergency Medical Care and registration as an Independent Emergency Care Practitioner.

Prof Vincent-Lambert is currently Head of the Department of Emergency Medical Care at the University of Johannesburg where he lectures Emergency Medical Care and Medical Rescue.

Prof Vincent-Lambert's recent interests are clinical teaching and learning in the authentic and simulated pre-hospital medical rescue environments.